Extermination Isn't Negotiable

The United States, Great Britain and France have told the Soviet Union they will not let themselves be pushed out of Berlin, but they also have told Russia they are willing to negotiate jointly for settlement of the German problem.

Premier Khrushchev's sense of humor should make him grin at this application of the same three-horse (troika) principle he would like to apply to the United Nations.

His idea is that U.N. decisions should be made in triplicate, with each of the decisionmaking trio holding veto power. The United Nations then would need a miracle to make a decision.

Premier Khrushchev will need a miracle to get a decision on Germany if he must please the United States, Great Britain and France. And his political instinct must be warning him he may soon be needing a decision to save the face he is about to lose RUSSIANS apparently had been counting on the Western Allies to back away from a showdown with the Soviet Union on Berlin. They had taken everything into account but the psychology of their victims.

The United States would not fire a shot in anger to save Berlin for the sake of the city; it doesn't mean that much. It may be assumed the British and French would not fight for the city, either.

But the United States has reached a stage in its frustrations over Russian pressure in the cold war where it would fight for its self-respect. It might help the Kremlinites to understand this if they would read about the way this country was forced to get into World War I.

It was not trying to save the world for democracy; that was only a slogan. It was fighting to keep an arrogant German government from pushing it off the high seas.

This time it is trying to keep an arrogant Russian government from pushing it out of a German city-and ultimately out of Europe. Sooner or later, it must let the pusher know there is no more room to be pushed in-that the next push is going to EXTERMINATION of the non-Communist world isn't negotiable. All efforts to make it negotiable have failed.

Russian Communists are adamant. Whether they do it the Chinese way, by military means, or the Russian way, by dialectics and diplomatic treachery, their goal is to get rid of their opposition-to exterminate

Perhaps it has been the weak point in the non-Communist world's defense that it has not made equally plain its determination to survive, not by destroying the Communists but by letting them destroy themselves. They could take a monster bite out of their life expectancy in Berlin.

They would be asking Russians and East Germans to fight for the city, itself. Their right to be there never has been questioned.

Ohioans Need More Jobs

Ohio Gov. DiSalle seems to be opening his fight for a second term with a peppery indictment of the Republican-controlled General Assembly for trimming his budget.

But we find in the indictment this saving thought: That he will try his best to maintain state aid programs for the needy at their present level.

This should not be difficult within the multi-million-dollar elasticity of appropriations that are ample for continuation of existing programs, even though the Republican majority in the legislature didn't think this was the time for spending increases and the certainty of more tax boosts when it came time to pay the piper two years

The DiSalle administration is not being required to cut back its operations, only its hopes of increases. It was informed by the Republican majority in the legislature that a little more than a billion dollars a year is the spending limit at this time.

REPUBLICANS lack a spokesman with the charm and persuasiveness of Mike Di-Salle to spread their story around the state. But like his story of more and more spending in the hope of making more and more people grateful to the spenders, the Republicans do have a theme of their own.

Their theme - and they've been using it a long time in this state - is the long-term value of moderation in Ohio spending. They want to make Ohio as attractive as it can be made for all taxpayers and especially for taxpayers who are thinking about adding to Ohio employment op-

Jobs for Ohioans are not made by lowering the boom on private enterprise. Michigan learned about that during the multitudinous terms of former Gov. G. Mennen

This state's prosperity does not depend on how much money it can spend but on how little money it must take from its citizens in taxation. This is the basic difference between Republican and Democra-

OHIO REPUBLICANS want to make the state more attractive to taxpayers. Ohio Democrats often seem to want to make it more attractive to tax spenders. There is nothing to prevent the DiSalle administration from continuing to do a good administrative job. The sky will not fall because the legislature did not give it all the money it asked for. Millions of us are to fit the cloth, too. What Ohio needs is not more spending power but hundreds of thousands of new jobs to create more buying power for its

in the same boat; we're cutting the coat

Mr. Bowles Was So Sure

It is possible that a report of misunderstanding between President Kennedy and Chester W. Bowles is incorrect. Or if misunderstanding does exist, it may be cleared

But if the report proves true and Mr. Bowles steps down as undersecretary of state, some of us will remember unhappily his earnestness as platform chairman at the Democratic national convention in San Francisco last year.

He made the impression that he thought of himself as part of a mission whose fulfillment would guarantee the future of the United States for all time. His sincerity was awesome - far more so than is customary with platform builders in political conventions. Perhaps this was because being in charge of building a Democratic platform big enough for the North and the South to stand on is and he had that one man on his team.

The Once Over

"I am for peace," declared Nikita Khrushchev, "and I have global annihilation plans to prove it!"

The reporter dodged a wild swing and Nikita continued, "No other man on earth has the belligerence I have to obtain brotherly love.'

He jabbed with his left and went on: "World amity is absolutely necessary if it takes every rocket and atomic bomb I can

"Aren't you somewhat aggressive?" asked the reporter, keeping his distance warily.

The dictator pointed to the sky loaded with new weapons of destruction and replied, taking off one shoe, "I seek nothing but world tranquility and freedom from fear. I can't understand how anybody can get the crazy idea I want trouble."

"But those mammoth parades with super weapons of every type tanks, rockets, planes do they relieve tensions?" was the question.

"When better relief from world tensions is needed, my parades and speeches will provide it. I am so peaceful it hurts." Nikita replied, taking off the other shoe and waving it. "This is my new supersonic shoe, more powerful than any shoe I have waved so far.'

"Does a really peaceful man boast he can lick any man in the house?" he was asked.

"That is the question of a low warmonger. I am a friendly, almost angelic personality and I want no friction. Excuse me while I check on my new colossal all purpose rocket now ready for display in my next demonstration of love and affection," said the dictator. Mr. Khrushchev then rolled up his sleeve and exhibited his new and hitherto top secret muscle. the Number 244 X bicep and asked, "Want to see me flex it?"

an awesome task. If he has run into complications within six months, it will be a little easier for the rest of us to feel comfortable about a squeaker election in which the country never was a tenth as sure as Mr. Bowles said he was that only one man could save America -

By H. I. Phillips

"No," said the reporter. "Capitalistic foe of peace!" Nikita snapped.

NEW YORK QUESTION of hour is whether it is going through a political campaign or witnessing an off-Broadway production of "Donnybrook."

Axis Sally, who teamed up with Hitler, jeered the free world, and leered at American GIs in last war, is free after 12 years in prison. No reporter thought to ask her "Do you think radio offers a good avenue for success?"

A truck load of furniture including three beds was stolen from a Princeton club over a weekend. Possibly the work of a Yale or Harvard man who had heard that Princeton men got more sleep.

America is color crazy. Color phones are the rage, colored paper money is urged by U.S. Secretary of Treasury and now Chicago will have colored streets! All Illinois may soon see yellow highways marking approaches to intersections, and red roads at intersections.

Gray highway may become so old-fashioned you can be arrested for being on it. But highway slaughter will never be ended until way is found to color the drivers. We favor application of this idea to car operators: 1. Drivers convicted more than twice of reckless driving: suits with black and white

2. Habitual weavers in and out of line: Red coat with skull and bones on rear of coat and rear of auto.

3. Drunks: Zigzag lines across sleeveless costume with emblem of bottle on hat in multiple colors.

4. Incurable red-light scoffers: Polka dot clothing, with front and rear end of auto painted vivid pink with words "No Brains" in sharply contrasting tones.

U.S. 'Split' Personality Criticized

By Joseph L. Block

(Joseph L. Block, chairman of the board of Inland Steel Co., and a member of President Kennedy's Labor-Management Advisory Committee is today's guest columnist for Victor Riesel. Mr. Riesel is in the Middle East to gather material for future columns.)

These days most of us, whether we know it or not, are living our lives with split personalities in respect to national affairs.

On the one hand, we cannot read the newspapers without being keenly aware that our nation and its free institutions are in deadly peril.

The Communist encroachments in Cuba, Southeast Asia and elsewhere in the world, the oft-repeated statements of the Soviets that they will "bury us" and their persistent efforts on all fronts to have their power and their system

On the other hand, we pursue the even tenor of our ways, doing the same things we always have done as if there were no danger to the survival of our society and our nation.

WE RATIONALIZE this inconsistency, either by hoping the whole thing will disappear as if it were a bad dream or by thinking that this is somehow a problem for government to solve and that each of us individually can do nothing about it.

We hear the President say, "Ask not what your country can do for you - ask what you can do for your country," and we reply, if we reply at all, by challenging him to tell us precisely what to do.

From time to time in his speeches and congressional messages, he is indicating guide lines as to the course of action which should be pursued by our citizenry.

In his May 25 address to the Congress he said, "Labor and management must - and I am confident they will - pursue responsible wage-and-price policies in these critical times.

Here is one very important area in which, it seems to me, a most valuable contribution to the welfare of the nation can be made.

Wouldn't you know that the first thing they ran into when they enforced these new relief rules at Newburgh, N.Y., was a quibble over "able-bodied."

Under the section of the rules that says "able-bodied" relief clients must work for their money, the welfare workers-fighting the rules every inch of the waycouldn't give a clean bill of health to a single one of 900 clients. They did find one client who but they felt sure he had invisible defects.

Don't we all?

I have been interviewing my working associates to see how they would stack up in an able-bodied test. They're a sorry lot.

So many of them have peptic ulcers of one degree of pain or another that management has been asked to install an anta-acid dispenser next to the drinking fountain.

One of them fell out of a cherry tree last weekend and is hobbling around on crutches. One leaves his work periodically to bleed from the nose as the result of a chronic sinus infection that has picked this particular time to grow acute.

Two have been gulping sedative tablets since early morning to keep agonizing headaches under control; they say they might as well be suffering at work as in a dark corner at home. One has been under a doctor's care for the last five years, with orders not to lift anything heavier than a 4-cent stamp from the office stamp supply Some of my working associates have staggered to their posts and stood watch when they had blood in their shoes-not because they loved the Mother Company so much but because it was ingrained in them to report for work unless they were unable to rise from their sacks.

But is it not strange that among all of them the welfare workers could find none who were ablebodied when the time came to start a new rule that able-bodied men should work for what they were about to receive?

Mr. Chairman, I propose the adoption of the following resolution: That only the able-bodied should pay taxes for the care and feeding of the disable-bodied and that the same physical standards be applied to both groups.

Letter To Editor

I have a few gripes to tell you and the people of East Liverpool. I live on Dresden Ave. and I have tried time after time to get someone from City Hall to come over to my house to let me tell them how to fix the traffic lights so the cars would not be in a solid line across 9th St.

I guess they don't want to know. If that is so, I don't want to tell

Here is another thing that should be done. They should go around and check all the fireplugs that they get water to fight fires. The one on Moore St. does not work. What do you say, let's get them all working.

Ready For Showdown

West Seen Prepared For Fullscale War In Europe

The West is prepared for a military showdown with the Soviet Union. Such an assurance can be obtained from the Supreme Headquarters of the Allied powers in Europe, which will have the chief responsibility for military opera-

The foregoing would not be day were it not David Lawrence for the fact that Nikita Khrushchev's speeches and statements lately are accepted as a threat of war that cannot be ignored. Several times the Soviet premier has said publicly that he intends to use military force to compel the Allies to get out of Berlin before the end of the year.

He has also dashed any hopes that the United Nations might resolve the dispute over Berlin by declaring that he "would not recognize" any U.N. decision that is not in his favor, but would use military force in disregard of such a decision

Thus, as in 1939, has one man again told the world that war is threatened.

Under the circumstances, the Western Allies can consider that they have been given notice of an intention to start a war against

What are the Western Powers doing about it? They are studying their plans anew, and it is no secret that they do not consider the defense of Berlin by itself as desirable and that they do consider that any military operation in the vicinity of Berlin will inevitably require action in other areas bordering on the Soviet Union.

It is important to clear the air about the use of "conventional forces." The operations that might develop include the possible use of tactical weapons with nuclear warheads.

PERHAPS the most authoritative statement about this is that made recently by Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, when he said in a speech to the NATO parliamentarians conference:

"I would like to summarize what I have said in the form of a statement of some facts, some assumptions, some objectives, of the type, and presented in the manner in which I might give to or another, I have given these points to the planners.

"1. The threat continues. As we enter the seventh decade of this century, it is still present — that is, the threat is - and its nature is political, economic and military. It is found throughout the world.

Unless other real guarantees are obtained, the security of Europe demands military strength. "2. The particular purposes for Moscow.

PARIS which the SHIELD forces are being created, and the general purposes which govern their deployment and use, are not only valid, but are of even greater importance in the period of nuclear plenty and missile delivery into which we are now moving.

"3. The forces presently planned for deployment in Europe would be generally adequate in quantity, but their weapons and their survival posture must be improved, and this is on an urgent "4. The forces of Allied Com-

"5. Except in certain welldefined cases of direct self defense, atomic weapons should be introduced into battle only after a particular decision to do so has resulted from the operation of an established decision - making "This process will insure that such a decision would, in all cases, be taken by an authority at a level higher than that of the basic combat unit and that the level of combat would have been raised above that which could be dealt with by conventional weapons."

THIS IS the military policy of the West which is in effect today. Any outbreak of hostilities in and around Berlin will be considered to involve broad defense operations in other parts of Europe as well. The Soviets have more divisions of troops today in East Germany than the Allies have in West Germany but numerical superiority in ground troops is not the sole factor of measurement The West has several atomic bases and several bomber fields retaliation the moment the Soviets open fire anywhere in Europe. Thus the prospect that a ground war can be fought in a "limited" area has been brushed aside here in military circles as absolutely out of the question. Instead, there is a firm decision to treat any Soviet military action from a purely military point of view to regard it as a signal for im-that's going on can be dismissed as impractical. Nikita Khrushchev must know that, once the firing starts in a nuclear age, he will have started a blaze that cannot be localized. This, at any rate, is the thinking of the men who have the responsibility for the defense of Western Europe. The Soviets should be pondering these things carefully, too, in

More Conversation

By James Marlow So far it's just some more conversation between two hard-of-other what they told each other All in a few days the Western Allies, answering Premier Khrushchev's threat to get them out of Berlin, told him he was endangering the peace and a Moscow Radio replied that in doing this they were "abetting forces" trying for war. No hits, no runs, no errors. If this is confusing to anyone it's only because he forgets he was through it all once before as the following series of parallel events the last time and now, will show: On Nov. 25, 1958 Khrushchev demanded the West get out of WASHINGTON wouldn't hear of it. And on Dec. 31 the Western Allies sent the Russian a note saying so at some hearing poeple trying to tell each length.

On June 3-4, 1961 Khrushchev made the pitch all over again to President Kennedy in Vienna. Kennedy wouldn't hear of it, either. And Tuesday the Western Allies sent the Russians notes saying so at some length. On Jan. 7, 1959 the American State Department put out a pamphlet giving the legal and historical reasons why the Allies were right in insisting on staying in Berlin.

In a short time the American State Department will issue a 1961 version of the same pamphlet-called this time a "White Paper"-saying just about what the State Department said in Berlin. President Eisenhower 1959.

13 Will Seek Title Of Miss West Virginia

CLARKSBURG (P) — Clarksburg will have 13 visitors today — and in this case that's far from being

The 13 are contestants for the title of Miss West Virginia in an official preliminary of the Miss America Pageant. The judging will be tomorrow, Friday and

The young ladies, representing various portions of the state, will compete in bathing suit appearance, evening dress and talent.

The winner will be crowned Saturday night by the 1960 Miss West Virginia, Mary Elizabeth Hoback

The contestants are Jenny Lind Tamplin, Miss Madison; Zola Fae Atkins, Miss Roane County; Bonita Louise Grass, Miss Huntington; Margaret Louise Ingle, Miss Charleston; Nancy Carol Webb. Miss Greenbrier County; Sharon Elizabeth Moore, Miss South Char-

Frances Elizabeth Rucker, Miss Clarksburg; Sandra Beth Proudfoot, Miss Elkins; Carolyn Sue Deitz, Miss Upper Kanawha Valley; Carole Esther Johnson, Miss Northern West Virginia; Peggy Catherine Tucker, Miss Bluefield; Constance Sue Sickle, Miss Fairmont; Charlotte Ann Oiler, Miss Parkersburg.

Explorers Slate Museum Display

Plans for setting up a display at the Wellsville River Museum were outlined at a meeting of the Aboriginal Explorers Club Monday night at the home of Harry M. Cline of Hillcrest, Wellsville.

Each member will donate arrowheads and pottery fragments for the display. All will be of local origin. The only Indian artifacts now on display were donated by the Carnegie Museum of Pittsburgh.

Plans were made to enlarge the club's library. James Monte displayed bone tools uncovered at a site being excavated by the club. Harry R. Cline read a letter from Heber Lessig, state geologist, reviewing soil samples and glacial deposits in the tri-state

Kentucky Archaeological Society. The next meeting will be July 31 with Richard S. Thompson, 2212

Baker To Stay At OU

Pending Replacement ATHENS, Ohio (AP) - Ohio University president Dr. John C. Baker, who officially retired July 1 but was asked to retain his position until his successor was named, will open the next academic year in September.

Baker was asked to remain at the request of the board of trustees. However, he has requested relief at the earliest possible date. Baker has been president of OU since 1946 when he left Harvard as associate dean.

Fred H. Johnson, recently reelected chairman of the board of trustees, said a special committee has been set up to select a new president.

Members of the committee are John K. Bush, John W. Galbreath. Edwin L. Kennedy, trustees; Prof. Amos Anderson of the faculty and Edgar Showmaker, president of the OU alumni assoc-

...AND MANY MORE WAYS TO PLEASE!

SUGARDALE CONEYS are great smothered with onions, pickles, catsup, mustard, kraut ...whatever your favorite relish. But here are some new ways to treat 'em!

Sauce for dunking ... it's sweet and hot! 2 cups chopped onions 2 tbls. Worcestershire sauce 1/4 cup salad oil 14-oz. bottle catsup 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard 1/4 cup brown sugar

1 teaspoon salt 1 tablespoon vinegar Cook the onions in the salad oil until almost tender. Add all other ingredients, simmer uncovered 15 minutes. Grill Coneys and dunk them into the sauce. Or, ladle sauce over Coneys in buns.

Coney 'n' Onion Salad...greens had it so good!

Add thin-sliced Coneys and thin-sliced onions to your regular tossed green salad with oil and vinegar dressing. Garnish with sliced tomatoes. Allow on Coney - Kidney Bean Casserole ... just a little bit different!

Next time you take a bean casserole to your picnic, make it with canned kidney beans and add a couple teaspoonfuls curry powder. Then, bury the inch-size Coney chunks deep in the bean mixture before baking.

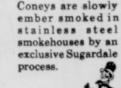

HERE'S THE "MEATY" PART OF THE SUGARDALE STORY:

Made from finest cuts of beef, veal and pork, Coneys are finely ground for greater digestibility

Officers Cite Man In Crash

A 50-year-old city motorist was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol Tuesday night after his car crashed into the front of a parked auto of a service station operator.

Wayne C. Banks, 122 E. 2nd St., was booked by police after they investigated the mishap at 6:48 p. m. on W. 8th St. which involved the parked car of James A. Moore, 1978 Lisbon St., operator of Moore's Sohio Service at the junction of W. 8th St., Jefferson St. and Webber Way.

Police said Banks was "too intoxicated" to say what happened. Moore said he had just entered his car and was preparing to start it when he glanced up and saw Banks' 1955 sedan headed Milton Spaan, 1232 Commerce St., Wellsville, escaped serious injury when his 1960 coach overturned on Route 213 near the Route 7 intersection Tuesday night at 10:30, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol. Officers said Spaan apparently rounded a curve too fast. His car went off the right side of the highway, struck an embankment and overturned. Spaan, who suffered lacerations of the left arm, hand and lower lip, was cited for speeding. An officer checks the vehicle after it was righted.

Chicken Salad Is Summertime Favorite

ripe olives and tomato wedges are the extra added ingredients that transform a year-round favorite, chicken salad, into a special salute to summer which will make the season's outdoor meals events to remember.

And, even though it's made with creamy French dressing, this is a main course with a calorie count that will bring joy to the hearts of weight watchers everywhere.

This salad has a mere 265 calories per serving. It is the kind of main dish that will allow dieters to indulge in some dessert without risking bulging

Needle Pattern Cost Of Eggs To Hold Firm

Seasonal changes are taking place in the egg market that have significance for area food shoppers, according to Richard Skinner, marketing agent with the Co-operative Extension Service in Production is declining further from peak spring levels. Prices have gone up most on grade A large eggs-up 7 to 8 cents a dozen since early May compared to a 4-cent rise on mediums. This is due to a seasonal change in the make-up of the egg supply.

Large sizes account for a smaller part of the total and small and medium sizes are a larger part, as many old hens go out of production and as young pullets from the winter chick hatch start producing.

Most of the summer price rise in eggs probably has occurred already. Larger supplies this summer will keep prices below last year. Comparisons on a cost per ounce basis will show the price advantage shifting to the smaller

Nearly everyone heats with GAS, and when they learn the facts about GAS air conditioning, they want it. They're pleasantly surprised to find how little it costs.

GAS provides year-round, total comfort using a central heating and cooling system controlled through one thermostat. In the summer you sleep better, cook and bake in a cool kitchen, enjoy your home more than ever. Then in winter, with the turn of a dial, your home is kept warm and snug with fresh air, GAS heat. You get all of this from the same GAS heating-cooling system. Why

The installation cost of a central GAS heating-cooling system in a new home can be financed with the mortgage for a very modest increase in payments.

If you are planning to remodel, figure on adding a GAS air conditioning unit to your present forced air heating system. You can probably use the existing heating ductwork. You can finance the whole job through the gas company; pay for it with your gas bill.

If you plan to build or buy a new home or to remodel your present home, find out about GAS air conditioning. You'll want it! Call the Gas Company for full information.

Q. How can I straighten out some candles that have drooped because of excessive heat?

A. Place the candles in a flatbottomed vessel filled with water at about 80 degrees Fahrenheit. Add small amounts of hotter water until the candles can be straightened easily with the fingers. Once they have been reshaped, drop the candles into a container of cold water to reharden them.

Q. How can I relieve sunburn? A. One of the very best remedies is to mix two parts of limewater to one part of linseed oil, beat it to the consistency of cream, and apply. Petroleum jelly or olive oil are also often ef-
